SOUTH CAROLINA'S PHOSPHATE BEDS.

A Proposition to Sell Them All to An English Trust.
CHARLESTON, S. C., December 13.—[Spe CHARLESTON, S. C., December 13.—[Special.]—The news of the development of a project in Columbia, looking to the outright sale by the state of all its right, title and interest in the phosphate beds, for a sum not less than seven militon dollars, has caused a stir in the phosphate exchange here. The first intimation of the project was the introduction of the bill in the legislature by the ways and means committee yesterday. The phosphate industry is the principal business of Charleston. Milbions of dollars are invested in it by natives, northerners and foreigners. Most of the fertilizer works of Europe and America get their supplies here. The deposits on the streams are moved by companies who pay the state a royalty of one collar a ton, the revenue to the state amounting to about $200,000 a year. Should the state dispose of its interest, the purchasers would be at liberty to increase this royaltimest of the state of the increase of the purchasers would be at liberty to increase this royaltimest. a year. Should the state dispose of its interest, the purchasers would be at liberty to increase this royalty to any figure, as there is no restriction in the proposed bill. The opinion is expressed here that an English trust or syndicate is at the bottom of the scheme, the authors of which claim that their line tention is to use the money to pay off the state debt, which amounts to about six millions dollars. In this connection it is recalled that recent publication have been made about the alleged discovery of phosphate beds in Florida of fabluous extent. of phosphate beds in Florida of fabulous expent. The bill will be fought bitterly, by the interests already invested in phosphate mining and fertilizer manufacturing.

This sub-committee will be charged with the arrangement of the sevenkern contasted election cases now awaiting settlement. The committee will meet again subject to call, when the sub-committee is ready to report.

Saloons Decreasing.

Washington, December 14.—Now let the advocates of temperance take courage. The annual report of the commissioner of internal revenue shows that the number of salon-keepers in the country is much less than it was three years ago. More than that, it shows that two terres of light 20. was three years ago. More than that, it shows that exports of liquor arealso reduced fully 20 per cent as compared with five or six years ago. The number of persons dealing in malt liquors exclusively has also fallen off within the past two or three years, the reduction of these being fully forty per cent. The reduction in the number of dealers in liquors has been especially marked in the south. In every one of the courtery was returned to the courter of the aouthern states excepting Maryland, there has been a decrease. In Georgia there has been a reduction of nearly forty per cent, and in Tennessee about twenty-five per cent. The number of liquor dealers in the United States, wholesale and retail, is about 180,000. Three years ago they numbered about 205,000.

Grand Rapids, Mich., December 13.-James

MacDonald, a farmer in the township of Tyrone, has employed a farm hand, by the name of Gilmore, for some years past. This Tmorning MacDonald went hunting and upon his return home was horrified to find the Jead body of his wife, she having been strangled to death. Further investiga-tion resulted in the finding of Gilmore's dead body near by, with a frightful wound in his chest, in-flicted by an old musket. It has been rumored that Gilmore stayed on the farm more for the love of Mrs. MacDonald than any other reason. It is be-lieved that Gilmore, during the absence of Mac-Donald, tried to induce Mrs. MacDonald to clope with him, and angered by her refusal to fif from herhome, first strangled her and then shot him-self.

OUR WAIL OF WOR.

Since my letter of last June, so generously published by your papers, we have been held in mock scorn by nearly all the people here. Those who would have a kindly feeling toward us are afraid to show the sentiment. Thus in the face of the powers that be, who rule here without regard to justice or law, save only the custom of the rich, where money hath its gain, soon after my letter was made public in this country the scowls of the officers of the law on us were distressing. Often in the silent hours of the night have I heard loud cursing of the "damned Gringoes" in close proximity to our humble abode. This is all meant for us, for there are no other Americans near. On the night of July 4 last, while I was seated in my room with a light, there came whizzing and crashing through the house a ball shot from a gun close by and loud cursing and stamping. I feared a rush into the house and the extermination of us all and hastily.

WITHOUT RECOURSE OF RIGHT.

Prejudcie has run so high against us here that it is impossible to get a lawyer to assist in the defense of my husband, and he is left to the mercy of juries. Mr. A. W. Gifford did us great injustice through the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and other papers by publishing a reply to my letter last June, and descanting upon matters he could know nothing about, save by heresay, and that most woefully biased. It seems that Mr. Gifford has, with his associates, organized a large mining company, based almost wholly on the unnes that have been wrung from my husband's hard earnings since his incarceration. I will leave it to a faif investigation to show how much interest the officers have in the mines who still confine my husband from his liberty and just rights. Now hear my appeal, hearken lest we all likewise perfsh. I can but ask of my great government a legation to investigate the most horrible surroundings, these worse than deeth scenes. THE CHARGE TO THE JURY.

THE CHARGE TO THE JURY.
CHICAGO, December 13.—Luther Laffin Mills, the eloquent lawyer who was expected to make the closing address for the prosecution in the Cronin case, was too ill to do so and Prosecuting Attorney Longenecker closed the case today. At the close of Judge Longe-necker's address, Judge McConnell read his necker's address, Judge McConnell read his charge to the jury.

In opening his instructions to the jury, Judge McConnell, after defining murder and accessory, circumstantial evidence and conspiracy, said in regard to Beggs that it was not sufficient for them to find that a resolution was adopted for the appointment of a secret committee in camp 20, February 8, but it must further appear, beyond all reasonable doubt, that such committee was appointed by Boggs and in furtherance of conspiracy to commit murder. If the jury believed any or all of the defendants had conspired to kill Cronin, they were guilty of murder, whether

The same applied to Coughlin's act in hiring Dinan's horse, and to O'sullivan's contract. The jury could not legally convict upon the mere doctrine of chance and probability, and if, after careful consideration they did not feel morally certain of the guilt of the defendants, it was the jury's duty to aquit them.

ARTICLES OFFERED IN EVIDENCE.

After the retirement of the jury and before

After the retirement of the jury and before the prisoners were escorted back to the jail. there was considerable discussion over the question of which of the articles offered in evidence should be taken to the jury room for the inspection of the jury. This discussion lasted fifteen or twenty min-utes and in course of it counsel for the defense formally renewed various motions before made against the introduction in evidence of those against the introduction in evidence of those specified, consisting mostly of the trunk, valise in which clothes were found, the instrument case, O'Sullivan's cards, the trunk strap, doctor's memoranda book, etc., etc. In short, the only articles which were offered in evidence, which were not taken to the jury room, were the doctor's clothes, and had the state insisted they would probably also have gone to the jury, but Mr. Longenecker did not press the point and the defense objected, it was decided that the clothing should not go the jury room unless it was so requested by the jury later in the deliberations.

WAITING FOR THE VERDICT.

WAITING FOR THE VERDICT. At 4:30 p. m. the court adjourned until 8 p. m., at which time, the jury, in case it has agreed upon a verdiet, will be brought into the courtroom. Although there is naturally a well-founded ground for the supposition, it is weit-tonned ground for the supposition, it is generally expected that the deliberations of the jury will be long, tiresome and stubborn, and no one expects a verdict before late in the night or some time tomorrow. NO VERDICT YET.

At 10:50 p. m., a bailiff entered the court room and whispered to Judge McConnell and the two then repaired hurrledly through the private corridors in the direction of the jury room, where it was presumed that the body desired a verbal interpretation of the judge upon certain charges in the instruction At 11 the jury having failed to return a verdict, Judge McConnell announced that the court would take a recess until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, to give the jurors time for deliveration.

After the adjournment of court, Judge McConnell was interviewed by an Associated Press representative as to the extent of his information in regard to the present mind of the formation in regard to the present mind of the jury.

"I know nothing," said he, "except that they have conveyed to me information that they thought it unlikely that they would be able to arrive at a verdict tonight. That really indicates nothing at all, as it was merely a kindly intimation to me that it would be needless for me to remain up any longer, that I might as well repair to my home and my slumbers. I do not think that it necessarily means a disagreement or a stubborn jury. It simply means that thus far the jury has arrived at no verdict—nothing else. It may mean that they means that thus far the jury has arrived at no verdict—nothing else. It may mean that they are deliberating upon the evidence or that they are interpreting the instructions. Certainly, it cannot be reasonably interpreted as meaning a disagreement. Do not jump at conclusions. There is a great deal for the jury to consider in this case."

ASSAULT UPON THE TOWN MARSHALS.

ASSAULT UPON THE TOWN MARSHALS has summer, the promise to pay the fine having been made before the trouble with the town officials took place. These men are prosperous farmers, and up to the date of the difficulty with the town authorities, were regarded as quiet, good citizens. The weapons used were huge rocks, and the head and face of each party is badly bruised up. Since the fight, both have been confined to their beds.

THE HAND OF THE INCENDIARY.

A Flame in Alpharetta of Evidently Foul ALPHARETTA, Ga., December 13 .- [Special.]

At an early hour this morning the town was aroused from slumber by the cry of fire. The barn and other outbuildings of Mr. R. J. Webb were aflame, and the source of the burning is a mystery to the community. The barn being well filled with fodder it was soon consumed, and another building contiguous thereto was quite as readily devoured by the flames. The loss is five hundred dollars. It is conceded by

THE WORK OF AN INCENDIARY, and that his intention was to burn all the houses on the premises, but the wind being still, the people had very little trouble in saving all the other buildings. Mr. Webb is a leading merchant, and it is a surprise that he has an enemy who would do him so great an injury.

ROSENBLOOM WAS SLICK. He Got Away, But Was Brought Back

Again. MARIETTA, Ga., December 13.-[Special.]-MARIETTA, Ga., December 13.—[Special.]—
For some time a speciacle vender, J. S. Rosenbloom, has been stopping at the Keunesaw house and hiring from H. Meinert's livery stable a horse and buggy. As he left part of his baggage at the stable, Mr. Meinert felt safe about his bill. A few days ago Rosenbloom called for his rigg as usual and was soon in the baggy and out of town. He drove to Smyrna, there tied the horse to a tree, but bargained with a negro boy to drive it back to Marietta, but not to start until night, which the negro did, Rosenbloom himself took the train for other fields. Then Mr. Meinert discovered that Rosenbloom baggage was gone, and that he had been beat to the tune of $15. It was found that he also jumped his hotel bill. Mr. Meinert learned that Rosenbloom was at Madison, swore out a warrant, and yesterday Sheriff McLain brought back the gentleman, and last night allowed him the hospitality of a cell.

THE FUN AROUND WALNUT GROVE. One Man Killed and Three Severely

CONYERS, Ga., December 13.-[Special.]-Your correspondent from Walnut Grove is mistaken about the killing of Riley Bates. The shooting was done at Tom Shy's, at Rosser's mills. The negro shot at Frank Hudson three times before he returned the fire. There were several shots fired before the killing was done. It is not known who did the shooting. The verdict of the coroner's jury was: "We, the jury, find that Riley Bates came to his death from pistol shots in the hands of unknown parties."

There was also three parties shot, but none dangerously, in the Miller bottoms the same night, two miles above Rosser's mills, on the same stream. Two were black and one white.

An Attempted Jail Delivery.

Hinesville, Ga., December 13.—[Special.]
Last night, early in the evening, the prisoners were about to make good their escape. One of the prisoners, a woman, and the wife of another prisoner, procured a file and gave it to one of the men who made good use of it in setting himself and several of his fellow prisoners almost at liberty. The prisoners were out of their cells and were making preparations to quit the jail when they were discovered by the guard.

Charged With Swindling. Boston, Ga., December 13 .- [Special.]-H. BOSTON, Gla., December 10.—[Special.]—It. R. Quinn, who lives near Boston, was arrested to-day by a warrant sworn out by T. J. Moore, of Lowndes county, this state, for swindling. It seems that Quinn sold patent rights to a washing machine, and obtained from Mr. Moore a mule and some money to close the trade. Quinn was to deliver the machinery, but failing to do so, caused the arrest. He was released from prison tonight by bond.

Two Negroes Shot.

Boston, Ga., December 13.—[Special.]—It is reported here late tonight that Virgil Albritton, colored, shot down shegro on Mr. A. T. McIntyre's plantation, about seven miles south of here. The officers have gone out to arrest the would-be murderer. At this hour it is impossible to obtain particulars as to the extent of the wounds. It is reported that he made efforts to shoot other negroes.

The Georgia State Grange. DAWSON, Ga., December 13.—[Special.]— The Georgia State Grance convened here Tuesday and have been in session daily since. A number of grangers from over the state were present, and a profitably session was held. Speeches on the state of the order and its prospects were made by Presi-dent T. H. Kimbrough and J. W. Cline, of Harris county, and other prominent members. The next session will convene at Hamilton, Harris county, in 1890.

Closed by the Sheriff. AMERICUS, Ga., December 13.—[Special.]—C. B. Coates's clothing and gents' furnishing goods, was closed by the sheriff this morning on a mortgage heid by Clegg & Co., of this city. The mortgage foreclosed amounts to more than forty-one hundred dollars, and it is reported that there are other mortgages upon the stock besides this one for considerable amounts. The stock is worth eight thousand dollars, and may cover the liabilities. SHOT IN HIS CHAIR

BY A YOUNG LAWYER FORMERLY A RESIDENT OF ATLANTA

AND A WOMAN THE CAUSE OF IT The Mayor of Starke, Fla., Killed in His Private Office by A. B. Thrasher, Who Confessed the Crime.

A. B. Thrasher, a young man once well known in Atlanta, figured in a very sensational shooting affray in Gainesville, Florida, last Wednesday. He shot and killed Mayor Witkouski, of Starke, Florida, in his private office. Thrasher gave himself up, and is now in the hands of the sheriff. It has been about ten years since Thrasher, who is now a lawyer, a member of the firm of Ashby & Thrasher, was a citizen of Atlanta. He was then only a boy, fourteen or fifteen years old, but at that age he had already made quite a reputation for wildness. He was well connected, a son of the senior member of the law firm of B. H. . & A. M. Thrasher, then law firm of B. H. & A. M. Thrasher, then doing an extensive practice. His father is dead, but his uncle, A. M. Thrasher, is at present mayor of Sanford, Florida, one of the foremost citizens of the state. Begides being prominently connected in Florida, Thrasher is related distantly to several influential Atlanta families.

. The Gainesville killing is of a very mysterious and shocking nature, and created a THRASHER'S CAREER. A gentleman who was familiar with young Thrasher and his family said yesterday when acquainted with the facts: "He was always what you would call a wild boy. After his what you would call a wild boy. After his father removed to Florida, he was sent up to Tennessee to school to keep him from mischief. There he got into a muss and to keep from being expelled ran away, coming to Atlanta where he got hold of enough money to take him back home. Mr. Thrasher never knew of his son's running away from college to the day of his death. While he was wild, Thrasher was exception-While he was wild, Thrasher was exceptionally bright, and I have often heard him express some very high ideas of honor. The killing appears to have been cold blooded, but explanations may clear it up and present the young lawyer in a botter light."

Those who were acquainted with Thrasher are not surprised at the affair if, as is stated, the good name of a woman is at stake.

THE PRELIMINARY TRIAL.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., December 13.-[Special.] The preliminary hearing in the case of B. A. Thrasher, charged with shooting and killing Louis Witkouski, mayor of Starke, Fla., commenced this morning before Judge Gardner. The principal witnesses on the part of the state were Marshall B. F. Dawkins and Dr. R. F.

The principal witnesses on the part of the state were Marshall B. F. Dawkins and Dr. R. F. Lancaster.

Marshall Dawkins testified that he talked with Witkouski a few minutes before the shooting, but did not notice which way he went when he left him. In about fifteen or twenty minutes after, while standing about a square from Thrasher's office, the marshall noticed Thrasher step into the street and call to him. On going to him Thrasher said:

"I have shot Witkouski."

In answer to the question, "Did you kill him?" he said:

"I don't know."

The marshal then took him to the courthouse and turned him over to the deputy sheriff. He then went with another policeman to Thrasher's office, and found Witkouski sitting in a chair in an inner room dead, his feet crossed and his hand lying in his lap, and a stump of a cigar on the floor under him.

DR. LANCASTER'S STORY.

Dr. Lancaster testified that there were two bullet wounds in the head, either of which would have caused death. One of the bullets having, in his opinion, severed the spinal cord, which would cause instant death.

MRS. ANNIE BROWN, in whose behalf the shooting is supposed to have been done, testified that she had known Witkouski, and was in his omploy for four years. "I left it the first of last July, because Witkouski insulted me by saying he was coming to my room at ten o'clock at night. I told him if he did I would kill him. Ever since I left him he has persecuted me by writing leterater.

ing to my room at ten o'clock at night. I told him if he did I would kill him. Ever since I loft him he has persecuted me by writing letters, wanting me to come back, saying he couldn't get along without me, that if I did not come back his business would ga down. Mrs. Thrasher is my sister-in-law. I make their house my home. I consider Alfred Thrasher, the accused, my protector." THE LETTERS WRITTEN by Witkouski to Mrs. Brown were read. They referred to some charges against Mrs. Brown, but the letters do not define just what they are. The inference is that she had been taking something belonging to Witkouski. He threatens if she does not return to his employ he will expose her.

State's Attorney Wigg objected to the reading of the letters, but his objection was overruled. Much interest is manifested in the case' which will be continued tomorrow.

A temporary rostrum, made of two large cotton bales covered with cotton bagging, was used by the speaker in the courthouse yard.

Fatally Struck by a Negro. McGinnis, Ga., December 13.—[Special.]—Jim Jennings, colored, was followed by an unknown negro from Hiram, who pretended to be looking for work. They passed here at 7:30 p.m. Jennings returned to Mr. V.B. Me-Ginnis's store with a severe blow on the back of the head and a bad cut in the forohead, made by falling against a crossile when struck. Jennings's hat and a large wagon standard, with which he was struck, was found just below here. Jennings had $20 on his persons. He is in a critical condition, vomiting blood and bleeding at the ears, and will probably dis.

A New Hotel for Athens. ATHENS, Ga., December 18.—[Special.]— The mass meeting to consider the question of a new hotel was largely attended. Hon, Pope Barrow was called to the chair, and Mr. T. R. A QUEER STRIKE

FOR HOME CAPITAL AGAINST SHIP OWNER.

The Savannah Longshoremen's Strike to Be Over by Monday-Some Strange Legal Complications.

SAVANNAH, Ga., December 13.-[Special.] The longshoremen strike will not be over before Monday. Captain Scaley, of the Thalla, had his crew at work loading his ship, while the regular cetton hooders were idle and losing five or six dellars. The Thalta will be loaded by tomorrow afternoon. As soon as she salls the longstoremen will go tack to work on the other ships, after lea-ing a week's labor themselves, and causing to the port. Two ships which came here, and found the strike, have gone away empty. The offering stock of cotton continues to pile up, and the market is suit. The charge that the strike over J. J. Wilder & Co., commissioners, has not been denied, and is accepted by the longthoremen and about every body eccepted by the longthoremen and about every pody else. Captain Sealey says that he is sorry the strike occurred, but his shi,'s owners do not propose to pay $1.00 custody commissions because four bales of cotton were damaged in a fire. He thinks it unjust if he is expected to put his ship back in an agent's hand, when it will cost so much.

THREE SUITS WILL RESULT.

J. J. Wilder & Co., will sue for their rustoly commissions, and the ships owners will spe Wilder & Co. for losses sustained, and they will bring another suit against Powers & McGee. In addition a criminal prosecution for conspiracy is binted at. Mr. Wilder can keep the ship out of a Russian port if he wishes to, by refusing to giving a clean bill of health, which he has the power to re-fuse, as he is the Russian vice consul here. She can, however, go to an English port.

THIS IS A QUEER STRIKE. Labor generally has enough to do to fight its own battles. This time it is making a fight solid for home capital against a ship owner,

THE FEMALE WALKISTS THE TWENTS-SEVEN HOUR MATCH BEGUN.

Alf Prater Gives the Word to Start-How the Girls Looked as They Began Their Long Walk.

The twenty-seven hour walking match tween Misses Blanche Du Pois, Lela Devon and Viola Montague was started in Centennial hall last night at 8 o'clock.

A very fair crowd, including a number of ladies, was present when the start was made. transformed into a minature Madison Square garden. The track was arranged round the wall in as near a circle as possible, and on the inside chairs and benches were arranged The track was of sawdust, twenty-six laps to the mile. Electric lights were put up during the day, and when the girls started on their long go-as-you-please, a string band of three piece struck up a lively air. The band remained through the evening, and when the novelty were off did much to inspire the walkers and amuse the spectators.

Protessor Donovan was master of ceremonies, and a corps of ushers and officers were on hand to attend the convenience of the audience, and to preserve order. In both they succeeded well.

Blanche Du Pois, the Cauada champion, was the first to appear upon the track. She came from the dressing room in one corner of the hall, and walked lightly with a springy step, round the track to the scoring stand. She wore a blue blouse with a red knee skirt and white sash, the whole costume set off by a aunty little red and blue cap and black stockings with canvas shoes. She carried in her hand a small Canadian flag.

Lela Devon, the New York champion, tripped around the sawdust at the call for No. 2. Her costume was the same cut as the first, except the blouse was red and the skirt blue, with a red Tam-o-Shanter hat. She carried the American flag.

The last of the walkers to appear was V.

The last of the walkers to appear was V. Montague, the Atlanta contestant. She wore a white sailor suit with black sash and braid, and carried the Georgia state colors.

All the girls are well made, showing a high degree of muscular development. The Canada and New York champions are both, brunettes, short in statue, and almost of the same build and weight. On the other hand Miss Montague, who thinks she can out walk anyone north of Mason and Dixon's line—anyone in petticoats—is a tall blonde. She is a walker, not a runner, and from the start last night, struck a steady gait, almost as rapid as the dog-trog of her competitors.

The Canada girl relies also on her heel and toe movement, though she occasionally created applause by giving the New Yorker, the sprinter of the trio, a lively hop-skip-and-jump for a round or two.

ter of the trio, a lively hop-skip-and-jump for a round or two.

Alf Prater, the mountain wonder gave the word "go," just as the hands on the timekeeper's watch indicated 8 'o'clock. The girls darted off at a lively gait, the Canadian in the lead and the New Yorker and Georgian following. The positions remained this way for half a dozen laps, when Miss Devon dashed in the lead, holding it until the end of the first mile, which was finished a lap in the lead in seven minutes and thirty seconds.

After going another mile or so the New Yorker retired from the track for a moment or two. Shortly after she appeared, the Canada

two. Shortly after she appeared, the Canada girl went off, but the tall Georgian kept up her regular heel and, toe, never retiring to her corner until near the end of the first hour.

At 9 o'clock, Lela Devon had finished her six miles and four laps, with Du Pois a couple of laps behind, and Montague just passing the five scoring points. five scoring points.

The first hour put the walkers on their mettle, and early this morning they were still tramping the sawdust in Concordia awaiting the arrival of 11 o'clock tonight,

MEDICAL.

Fresh confirmation of this statement comes to hand daily. Even such deep-seated and stubborn com-plaints as Rheumatism Rheuma tic Gout, and the like, are thoroughly eradicated by the use of this wonderful alterative.

Mrs. R. Irving Dodge, 110 West 125th street, New York, certifies:—

125th street, New York, certifles:

"About two years ago, after suffering for nearly two years from rheumatic gott, being able to walk only with great discomfort, and having tried various remedies, including mineral waters, without relief, I saw by an advertisement in a Chicago paper that a man had been relieved of this distressing complaint, after long suffering, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I then decided to make a trial of this medicine, and took it regularly for eight months. I am pleased to say that it effected a complete cure, and that I have since had no return of the disease."

Mrs. L. A. Stark, Nashua, N. H., writes: "One year ago I was taken ill with rheumatism, being confined to my house six months. I came out of the cickness very much debilitated, with no appetite, and my-system disordered in erery way. I commenced to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla and began to improve at once, gaining in strength and soon recovering my usual health. I cannot say too much in praise of this well-known medicine."

Atlanta Enjoying an Era of Revolution in the Price of Drugs.

Atlanta enjoys a revolution in cheap drugs. Never before have standard remedies and patent pills and potions been so easily and economically purchased as they are today. Jacobs' pharmacy has long been known as a cut rate store on drugs, and as such has had many conflicts with the orthodox druggists of

Recently a revolution was started among the other drug men, and they combined to lower the price of this class of goods. Cut was met by cut until a person can purchase standard remedies and patent medicines at from two-thirds to half the price heretofore demanded. The combination asserts that these medi-cines are sold at a loss, but that the cut prices are being made to meet the low rates charged Meanwhile people who have been paying the old prices are beginning to wonder just how exhorbitant were the rates charged prior to the revolution that has caused such a

Mr. W. C. Schomber, Proprietor of the Union Depot Restaurant, Meridian, Miss., writes under date of March 5th, 1839, as follows: "Marshall Hostern, a colored man employed in my restaurant contracted a severe case of contagious blood poison that broke out in sores all over his legs and arms. It was of such a severe and stubborn type that it baffled all efforts of the local physicians to eradicate the loathsome disease from his system. I finally persuaded him to discontinue all other medicines and try SWIFT'S SPECIFIC (8. S. S.), and the effect that it had on him was truly wonderful. S. S. S. cured him entirely and he is to-day in perfect health.

W. C. SCHOMBER, Prop'r Union Depot Restaurant, Meridian, Miss." "I had an attack of rheumatism in 1882 that tormented me beyond description or expression. I endured it for months and months, and took medicine after medicine without receiving any benifit; loss of appetite soon broke my health down, and I was fast becoming a physical wreck. I then gave up all medicines and took a thorough course of SWIFT'S STECIFIC (S. S. S.), which entirely eradicated the disease from my system. This was seven years ago and I have not had any symptoms of a return of the disease.

Scene—First Dinner to the Family Physican by Young Married Couple.

FAMILY PHYSICIAN—Do you know, there seems to be a natural flavor about this food that is most appetizing? What method do you use in cooking it?

LADY OF THE HOUSE—Well, Doctor, when I was at home, my mother would have no other than a Charter Ouk Stove. From my earliest recollection I remembered how she would praise it, and her cooking was superb. So when we were married I insisted on having the same kind of stove. Otcourse the improvements made on them since mother bought here, are most wonderful. Ours has all the latest, including the Wire Gausse Oven Doors. I don't understand the process exactly, but they tell me that all meats cooked in ovens with these doors, retain their inices and flavors to a much greater degree than by any other means. Can you explain the theory, Charles?

CHARLES (the Husband)—I can't remember all that was told me, but I know the Doctor can give a most clear and acientific statement of the reasons, can you not Doctor?

DOCTOR—Well, It is hardly professical to ask such information from a doctor; in fact, I am inclined to think he would not be helping his practice much by saying anything in favor of the Charter Oak Stoves. But as I have one in my kitchen, and know something about it, I think I can enlighten you. Of course it would take quite a long lecture to explain everything to you scientifically, and we have not time for that. Count Rumford, an American, who was Knighted in Europe for his scientific attainments, pointed out, nearly a hundred years ago, that baking and roasting meats in air tight ovens was wrong, and he proved it by actual experiments. He asserted that it was as essential to health that our food should be cooked in pure, fresh air, and that air-tight ovens render the air impure, and the food cooked therein became tainted and unhealthy. But how to properly ventilate the oven was not discovered for many years after Count Rumford's time. The difficulty was to allow fresh air to enter the oven uniformly w

ATLANTA, GA., DECEMBER 14, 1889.

Then and Now.

The Portland Oregonian is a south-hating newspaper, but it very sensibly admits that the old war-time talk is out of place in these peaceful days.

In 1865 a northern poet wrote: "I'd sooner take my chance to stand At judgment where your meanest slave is, Than at God's bar hold up a hand

As dripping red as yours, Jeff. Davis," & . The Oregonian says that these bitter words expressed the northern mood at that time, but the poet and his people now take a broader view of the subject. They no longer hold any one man responsible for the Time gives people a clearer vision. The opponents of Jefferson Davis once regarded him as a hot-headed enemy of the union. They now see that he was a conservative thinker, a student of the doctrines of Jefferson and Calhoun—a product of the theories held and advocated by the framers of our government.

The southern confederacy, our contempo rary says, was simply the democratic party of Thomas Jefferson in arms and fighting for its principles. "Jefferson Davis was not the leader of this great political effort, but only a product of it, and as the country now looks back on the struggle in the clear cold light of history there is little reason for unimosity towards him."

Despite the partisan bias of the Oregon newspaper, its comments are characterized by moderation and justice. In the course of time our great secession struggle will be regarded as the English people now regard their revolutions of 1640 and 1688. The memories of those red civil wars are now prized as a precious heritage by all Englishmen, and no man cares a jot on which side his ancestors fought. All that he wants to know is the fact that they did fight valiantly on one side or the other, proving themselves heroes in times that tried men's souls.

So it will be in this country in another generation. The northerner will congratulate the southerner upon being the descendant of a gray jacket who swore by Davis and followed the banner of Lee, and the southerner will speak admiringly to his northern neighbor of the men in blue who responded to Lincoln's call and swarmed to the front under Grant.

Something of this spirit is manifest even now. A few pestiferous politicians and small men cannot long keep the American people in an angry mood with their own countrymen. The day is coming when the common verdict will be that the north and south were both right. Such a verdict may be open to criticism, but it will be thoroughly American.

Enctional Paper Currency. During the present session of congress it Is quite likely that one or more bills will be introduced providing for the issue of fractional currency.

Many newspaper publishers are in favor of such a measure. They complain that it inconveniences them to receive postage stamps for small sums. At the last session a fractional currency bill passed the house, but the secretary of the treasury appeared before the senate finance committee and argued so earnestly against the bill that Senator Aldrich prepared a measure amending the postal note law so as to make the fee for notes under one dollar only one cent, instead of three cents, the present charge. Such a bill will probably be passed at the present session, and the postoffice department will be expected to modify its regulations and make the sale and redemption of these notes more convenient.

It is true that postal notes are liable to be stolen, but the danger is greater with fractional currency. If a postal note is stolen there is a better chance of tracing the thief. It is to be hoped that Senator Aldrich's bill. or one like it, will become a law.

New York and the Fair. The New York papers having dispaired of raising a sufficient amount for the world's fair guarantee fund, now say that such a fund is not necessary, and that congress ought to go ahead and name the city as the site of the fair.

This would be a very simple matter, indeed, but the probability is that congress will do no such thing. It is easy enough to say that the fair ought to be held in New York, other things being equal. Here is Chicago raising the money right along, and the energy of the people of that city is in striking contrast with the attitude of the rich men of New York, who absolutely refuse to have anything to do with the fair.

Would it be easier for New York to raise the money, knowing that the fair would be held there, than it is now under the stimulus of competition? Decidedly not. We think the fair ought to be held in New York, but if that city can't raise the money It ought to confess the fact and subside as gracefully as possible. Inflammable Cotton.

The New England cotton mills are complaining because some of the cotton they receive is saturated in oil. Samples of this cotton have been sent to the Institute of Technology, and the tests made there show that the cotton thus damaged is exceedingly liable to spontaneous combustion. The oil pressed from the samples is found to be tton seed oil, and it ignites at moderate heat, such as might be created by close packing in a storeroom or warehouse.

It is thought probable that this saturation is the result of the transportation of cotton in cars that have been employed in carrying cotton seed oil.

Those who have tested the samples are of the opinion that oil saturation explains the many mysterious cotton fires in warehouses and on ship-board that have taken place lately.

Primarily, the rallroads are responsible.

for the carelessness that permits so sensitive a fiber as cotton to be transported to market in cars that contain the leakage of oil barrels. There is no other crop of the same value, or even approaching it, that is handled and marketed with the same indifference.

By means of this carelessness, millions of dollars are wasted every year, and while it has become a fixed habit, it is by no means necessary to add to the loss by shipping cotton in oil cars. The line ought to be drawn somewhere, and the responsibility ought to be placed where it belongs.

Experiments in Cotton Culture. While a cotton planter in South Carolina has been successfully experimenting to develop a variety of the plant that produces lintless seed, another planter in Mississippl -Mr. W. A. Cook, of Norman-has been making experiments that are still more promising and important. He has been working in the direction of increasing the length and improving the quality of the staple.

Mr. Cook began his experiments eight years ago by carefully selecting the longest and best bolls he could find sufficient to plant an acre each year. When he began these experiments, the staple was an inch and an eighth long, and now it is nearly two inches long. In addition to this. Mr. Cook is surprised to find that the staple is not only increasing in length, but in yield. At first he could only make a light bale to the acre, but the quantity has increased from year to year, until he was able to gather this season six hundred and five pounds of lint from an acre. He is confident that the quality and quantity of this cotton is susceptible of still further improvement, and in that direction he proposes to push his experiments.

In the planting, cultivation, gathering, packing and marketing of the cotton crop there is great haste, waste and carelessness If Mr. Cook's experiments are as successful as they seem to be, he will stimulate improvement in various directions.

The Ohio Mystery. There are phases of the Ohio ballot-box forgery that are very funny, not to say peculiar The forgery, it will be remembered, was used by Editor Halstead to crush Campbell, the democratic candidate for governor, after Foraker had declared that the document could not be made public. It was the general view, after the affair was shown to be a forgery, that it was concocted for the purpose of destroying Campbell, who was running against Foraker. And yet, how futile is human supposition. It appears, however, from Foraker's long epistle of explanation, that he was dickering for the forged document before Campbell was mentioned as a candidate for governor. He was fretting and fuming and telegraphing to Wood about it at least a month before the democratic convention

Was Foraker trying to crush Campbell, who was at that time a comparatively obscure citizen? Such a conclusion would be unreasonable. Foraker was gunning for bigger game; he was seeking to crush Sherman. McKinley and Butterworth.

To that end, he was using his utmost endeavors, and by playing on Mr. Halstead's partisan enthusiasm he was able to use that manly but impetuous editor as an instrument. This is shown not less by the actual facts that have come to light than by Mr. Halstead's prompt and contemptuous exposure and repudiation of the whole affair, which was as effectual as the explosion of a dynamite bomb under the feet of the conspirators. But, prompt as Editor Halstead's expos ure was, he had already been led further into the disreputable business then he had any idea of. He was too busy in the affair to keep his eye on current events. For instance, John Sherman, hearing that his name was attached to an incriminating document, telegraphed to the Evening Post at Cincinnati, declaring that any statement connecting him with the ballot-box scheme was a lie, and any subscription in his name was a forgery.

This was not satisfactory to Editor Halstead, who apparently had his bristles up. It was not until two days afterwards that he exposed the forgery. In explaining this, Mr. Halstead remarks complacently that there was a feeling that Sherman could hardly have known what he was about when he placed his name upon the paper." Considering that he did not sign his name to the paper, Mr. Halstead's remark must be supposed to have a humorous twist.

But what does T.C. Campbell mean when he declares that J. B. Foraker has not published all the telegrams he sent to his friend, Forger Wood?

THE attempt to induce the colored people to go to Congo is regarded as an attack on the republican majority.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

A THEATRICAL TROUPE advertised "Uncle Tom's Cabin" at Bonham, Texas, for the night proceding the inneral of Jofferson Davis. When the doors of the theater were opened a band stationed itself in front and struck up "Dixis." The people raillied and in a short time 2,000 men were in the street ringing bells and firing off cannon crack-ers. The manager of the troupe appealed to the mayor, but could getno satisfaction. Then the ac-tors extinguished the lights and hid in one corner of the building until the storm was over. There was no performance that night. The Texans were not much to blame. There is no reason why "Uncle Tom's Cabin" should be played down south.

"Honor the Great Dead," has this fine editorial on the death of Mr. Davis:

"When President Garfield lingered between life and death, after the cruel wound had been inflicted by the assassin, the expressions of sympathy and condelence were as universal and as sincere in the south as in the north, and when death relieved him of his suffering the southern press and people, actuated by a true national spirit, recognized the national loss and joined in paying tribute to his virtues. When General Grant was gathered to his fathers, men who had opposed him in arms followed his remains to their last resting place and placed garlands upon his tomb. The south mingled her tears with those of the north. The past, with all its bitterness, was forgotten. There was no sectionalism, no erlumination, only sulogism, sorrow and regret. The memory of Jefferson Davis is as dear to the south as that of General Grant is to ory of Jefferson Davis is as dear to the south as that of General Graut is to the victorious north. His name and fame are guarded with mote tenderness and jealousy because of his vicarious suffering and the heroic fortitude with which he bore himself in this, as in all other conditions of life than if he had worn the haurel crown of success. Today the south ciains the poor privilege of paying the last sad tribute to one who was the embodiment of a hope that perished in the smoke of battle, of a cause that was baptized in the blood of her bravest sons, and was only lost when her energies were exhausted and human endeavor could no longer avail. With the death of Mr. Davis the last link that binds the south to an unhappy but ensbrined and sainted past is broken. Whatever there may be of sorrow and regret within its secred folds the memory of brave deeds and lofty sentiments of patriotism will endure forever."

"Big Jim" has bursted. This morning while the memorial services were in progress at the Methodist church, the Columbus Light Artillery was firing a presidential salute of twenty-one guns in honor of Ex-President Davis.

The steady "boom" continued at intervals at through the services, and twenty-one shots had been fired, but the faithful old cannon had fired its last salute, for with the twenty-first shot it went into a thousand pleoes, having given voice in so glorious a cause as honoring the first, last and only president of the confederacy, it seemed to be determined to be put to no baser use, and perished when its duty was done. Big Jim's was a twenty-four pounder seige gun that was at Fort McComb during the late war. In 1873 it was bought by the Hon. Jas. T. Hartison and presented to the Young Men's Democratic club, and has done duty ever since."

MR. GRADY'S SPEECH. HE MAKES THE GREATEST HIT OF HIS LIFE.

The New York Papers Quote Largely, and Praise Editorially—The Drift of Opi Boston, Mass., December 13.-[Special.]-

At an early hour this morning Mr. Grady and his party left for the town of Plymouth on a special train provided by Colonel Choate, of the Old Colony road. About fifty Bostonians accompanied the party. Upon reaching Plymouth they were met by a large part of its population, and Mr. Grady was introduced by Mr. Davis, president of the Pilgrim society, and was received with three cheers and tiger. Three cheers were then given for the party of southerners who had come to see Plymouth Rock and the Plymouth Rock monu-ment. Carriages were in waiting and the company reached the historic rock. Mr. Grady was escorted to THE TOP OF THE ROCK and made a short speech. The various points of interest in the town were then visited, and the party returned to Boston at 2 o'clock where General Collins and Colonel Taylor, of the Boston Globe, we waiting with carriages to carry them to a banquet given by the Bay State club, in honor of Mr. Grady and his friends. This banquet was a magnificent affair with covers laid for three hundred and twenty-five guests. President Cleveland, who was being banquetted by the Tariff Reform club in another part of the city, visited the Parker house during the banquet, and was received with great applause. Three cheers were proposed for Mrs. Cleveland by ex-Mayor O'Brien, and given with a will. Mr. Cleveland, in a short response, said, with evident emotion: "I am sometimes disposed to be ealous of the attention paid Mrs. Cleveland, and to feel that I am slighted in her presence but let me say to you, here, that she is worthy of all the admiration and adulation that have been so generously and unanimously accorded her by the American people."

After Mr. Cleveland had retired MR. GRADY WAS INTRODUCED by Colonel Taylor, and received with three times three cheers. He made a short speech, and was followed by Judge Hillyer, Mr. E. P. Howell and Dr. R. D. Spalding, who was genially received, and under whose ministration the banquet became a democratic love feast. Upon leaving the banquet hall the party dined with Hon. Edward Atkinson. and tonight occupy boxes at the Hollis Street theatre, where they see the Iron Master played by the Kendalls. They will leave for New York at 11:30, on a special train provided by the Short Line railroad.

THE GUARD RETURNS From the Funeral of ex-President Davis at New Orleans.

The Gate City Guard reached Atlanta yesterday morning at 8:15 on the West Point road. Governor Gordon and party was also on the same rain, with the governors of North and South Carolina and their escorts.

A delegation of members who had remained at

In the procession at New Orleans, the Guard

Several Atlaints gentlemen who saw the funeral procession are enthusiastic in speaking of the reception accorded the Georgia boys. They were proud that the company was there, and say that Atlanta, as well as the state, was worthly represented by the Guard. Atlants, as well as the sact, has been a sented by the Guard.

Governor Gordon was highly pleased at the appearance made by the Guard, and on the return trip passed through the company's special car shaking the hand and individually complimenting the

From the Greensboro Herald-Journal.
It will be a surprise to our readers and to hundreds of others when the Heraid-Journal appears this morning with the full synoresis of the speech of Hon. Henry W. Grady, delivered last night in Bos-ton, Mass. We know that this speech would be one of the most important delivered in the United States for many years, and would be an oration which will have weight in national affairs. The people were interested in getting this grand oration, and the Herald-Journal gives it to them within less than twelve hours after its delivery. It cost something, it is true, but the Herald-Journal is bound to keep abreast of the band wagon. From the Augusta Chronicle The Boston banquet last night was an im portant occasion. We print today the solid and impressive oration of Hon, Grover Cleveland. His public speeches are like his state papers—full of good sense and wisdom. It goes without saying that the Georgia Grady made one of his charming and inspirational efforts. The Beston banquet was a national fete. From the Athens Panner. By a fortunate arrangement, we have been enabled to give Mr. Grady's speech in full in this issue of the Banner. The speech was made last night in Boston, and, although with some difficulty, we present it to our readers this morning, just as i was spoken and in full. Mr. Grady's spee time this morning, as it flashed over the wires to every leading newspaper of the country, and will be read by thousands early this morning. The readers of the Banner will have the pleasure of reading it as early as the Bostonians, and only a few hours after it was delivered. Altern is the home place of Mr. Grady, and though it has often had the occasion to feel justly proud of her honored son, such pride was never more warranted than it is today. Mr. Grady's speech will be read with especial interest, as it is on an especially interesting theme, the race problem. The way in which he deals with the yet been thrown upon it, and the matchless elo-quence that characterizes the speech throughout carries a convincing power with the self convincing facts. The speech is reported to have been even a greater success than Mr. Grady's famous New Eng-land speech. One of the orators at the merchants' banquet in Boston last night was Mr. Henry Grady, and he acquitted himself of one of the best speeches he has ever delivered—probably the best. The orator made no covert attempt to ingratiate himself into the good igraces of his audience by an easy adaption of his remarks to the environment, but gave his hearers a straightforward talk and such instruction as they needed great issue places it in a plainer light than has ever to have in regard to southern affairs and the race problem, which was the subject of Mr. Grady's ad-dress. The speech was a long one for such an occasion, and we regret that the lack of space prevents its being published in full in these columns. The beginning and the peroration were in that happy flow of language which Mr. Grady has at such ready command, but the body of the speech was given over to a careful presentation of facts and a successful refutation of those slanders of the south which have been so common at the north.

The speech was not such a burst of eloquence as that Mr. Grady sprung on the New Yorkers several years ago, but it was a more thoughtful effort, and while it is not likely to be followed by such sensational effects, it is bound to sow good seed. He is a true son of the south, and pictures properly the senti-ments and the attitude of this section. He expresses accurately the position of the south, and it is well that it should have been so forcibly presented to a northern audience.

AKERS BROS. IN TROUBLE NEWS IN SOCIETY'S WORLD FINANCIAL EMBARRASSMENT OF ATLANTA'S BIG FIRM.

A Sale Made Ito G. B. Everett & Co.-The Statement of a Pariner—All Traceable to the Central Elevator Failure.

Akers Brothers are financially embarrassed. Late yesterday they made a sale of their stock of raw material and manufactured goods to Messrs. G. B. Everett & Co., their heaviest creditors, and took other steps to secure their creditors against loss.

The liabilities of the firm are estimated at $60,000 to $75,000; the assets from $60,000 to $100,000.

THE FIRM OF AKERS BROS is probably the largest of its kind in the south. Besides operating the largest corn and flour mills in the southern states they have also been the largest grain dealers. Their mill at McIvor's station is the largest of its kind in Georgia. They have besides an elevator at McIvor's, and a large warehouse on Forsyth street in Atlanta. Their business has reached from Tennessce to the scacoast, covering the two Carolinas, Georgia, Florida and Alabama.

The firm consists of Messrs. G. W. Akers, W. T. Akers and J. K. P. Akers. These gentlemen have been in business in Atlanta for years, and have always enjoyed the confidence of the business world. As one of the heaviest creditors said last night: "You can't say too much for them. They have always been thoroughly sound, and all Atlanta will hope that their embarrassment is only temporary.'

MR, GEORGE W. AKERS. the head of the firm, was at McIvor's yesterday and could not be seen. His nephew, Mr. Jim Akers, who theroughly understands all the circumstances of the firm's embarassments, was seen, however, and said: "Our trouble was caused by the pressure in the money market and is traceable directly to the failure of the Kennesaw mills in Marietta and that of the Central ele-vator of Chattanooga. We had considerable paper out and the banks refused to renew or give us time. Messrs. Fverett & Co. were our largest creditors and they have purchased the stock on hand. They only secure certain papers, however. Our embarassment was very sudden and we have had no time to form any plans for the future."

THE HIGH STANDING of the firm is attested to by everybody who has ever had any dealings with it. The firm has always used a good deal of commercial paper. The recent failures of the Central Ele-vator and the Kennesaw mills have made the banks suspicious of even the best grain paper. Slow collections, without a sufficient amount of cash capital to tide over the sudden demand brought about the embarrassment. It was to secure Messrs. G. B. Everett & Co. that the sale of stock was made. A mortgage on the mills at McIvor's has, it is understood, been given the Western and Atlantic railroad to secure it against loss on account of outstanding bills of lading, and it is said that the other creditors have been secured.

Besides those mentioned, probably the heaviest creditors are Messrs. George E. Hoppie & Co. Mr. Hoppie said lastlevening: "I am satisfied the Akers Bros. are solvent. I know I voice the sentiment of business Atlan: a when I say that I hope the embarrassment is only temporary.

A creditor estimates the McIvor's property at $60,000, the outstanding accounts at $15,000 to $25,000, and the manufactured stock and raw material, at $35,000, "This," he said, "is only a guess, but it will not be found far wrong. Mr. G. W. Akers will return to the city to-day and will doubtless be able to give a full statement of the firm's affairs. THE GUARD FAIR.

A Goodly Number of Veterans Present to Enjoy the Evening's Entertainment. The attendance at the Guard fair last even ing was large, and another successful run was had at the restaurant and booths. It was veteran evening, and the old warriors were liberal in their responses to the demands of the fair young ladies, who are so diligently working for the success of the fair. The vetorans were loaded, and their silver fairly jingled on the counters of the beachs.

Armory booth, Mrs. Albert Howell's, did a lively business. The leading attraction here for the even-ing was the raffle of an elegant diamond ring and diamond earrings.

At the domestic venture, the booth where there are no blanks but every chance draws a prize, in charge of Mrs. Captain Hollis and Miss Belle Carlton last evening, many valuable household articles were disposed of.

clonery, where fruits and candies of all sorts were dispensed.

No. 3 railled a beautiful manicure set and smoking case, also a plush album.

This afternoon a Christmas tree will be arranged for the little folks. Santa Claus will distribute presents, and the children who attend will be made happy thereby. In the evening dancing will be part of the programme as usual.

At the restaurant the hungry can be accommodated to the queen's taste. Try it, and be convinced. A large number of business men take dinner at the fair regularly, and this part of the fair, which is strictly first class, is steadily growing in popularity.

fair, which is strictly first class, is steadily growing in popularity.

The children's chrisimas tree this afternoon at three o'clock will be one of the most enjoyable features yet introduced. Each child will receive a present. Good music and dauching will lend additional charms to the occasion. Fifteen cents admission will be charged to the christmas tree, but all the gifts will be handsome, more than exceeding the amount.

AT THE THEATER.

The same old and ever attractive "Evangeline" was at the opera house last night, and a large audience enjoyed the performance thoroughly. Many of the old favorites were recognized, and some Many of the old favorites were recognized, and some new faces were greeted with pleasure. Miss Yolande Wallace took the part of Evangeline, and looked charming. Miss Mac Branson also looked lovely as Gabriel, and sang with great sweetness. She made a hit from the start. Mr. James S. Maffit did the lone fisherman as usual, and his quiet and perpetual patience created much amusement. Mr. George K. Fortescue met with his usual success as Catharine the gushing maiden of forty. who would an Catharine, the gushing maiden of forty, who would not say no it asked to marry. Mr. Harry Kelly, Mr. Gus Frankel and Mr. Peter F. Duly all played their Gus Frankel and Mr. Feter F. Daly an payed ther-parts well, and did much to make the play a suc-cess. The dancing, marching and singing were of the usual order, more attention being paid to symmetry of form than to vocal or dramatic ability. Evangeline is nothing if not speciacular, It is, however, a good play of its kind, and the scenery and dresses were far above the average. Matines today and night performance.

Another fine actress, the acknowledged successor of Clara Morris, will appear, next Monday and Thesday, in two remarkable plays. "As in a Looking Glass," and "Bona Soi." The first was played here by Mrs. Langtry, Miss Lewis will show what is in this drama when played by a real artist. The second is one of the great triumphs of the famous French actress, Sarah Bernhardt, and the northern critics have enthusiastically called Miss Lewis the "American Bernhardt." These two fine productions are worth seeing by themselves; presented by Miss Lewis they are doubly so. Mr. Tannenbann, of Mobile, telegraphed to Atlanta after her performance."

The day following her appearance in Birmingham the Age-Herald says:

Miss Lewis appeared yesterday afternoon in "The New Macdelen" and last night as Cora in "Article New Macdelen" and last night as Cora in "Article 7," and the impression she made was a most favorable one. Her work was interesting throughout, and in the last seene of last night's play she was perficularly strong. Miss Lilian Lewis.

The concert of the Young People's league of Trinity church, last night, scored another success both for the society and for the participants. The programme was practically the same as that of the first concert, the different numbers being by some of Atlanta's best known and west talevial recold of Atlanta's best known and most talented people, ably assisted by some outside talent. It is hardly possible to go into details and give each his or her just dues. The programme contained the names of such well-known people as Miss Mamie Johnson, Professor and Mrs. Alwyn M. Smith, Miss Cara Farnsworth, Miss Natalie Little, Miss Willie Howard, Miss Mamie O'Keefe, E. H. Stearns, E. L. Van Zant, W. H. Preston, J. E. Morris, Miss Lella Richardson, Mrs. W. J. The ball given at Moreland Park academy last night was a most delightful affair. A large number of the friends of the students were present. The ball was given by the Moreland Park club and a train on the Georgia road was chartered to carry out the guests from Atlanta. Wurm's orchestra furnished the music. The armory had been taste-fully decorated under the direction of Prof. Neel and Major E. R. Hopkins, both of whom worked untiringly to make the affair a success. Dancing was kept up until a late hour. Important Change in One of our Financial Institutions.

Mr. A. D. Adair, president of the Merchants' and Mechaics' Banking and Loan company, was asked about the charge in this bank. He said: "We find our capital is not large enough to meet the heavy demand upon us for money by parties offering first-class security and we will increase it to $250,000 with the view of going intogeneral banking and savings bank business besides continuing our real estate loans. We have been running nineteen months and our success has been highly satiseen months and our success has been highly satis factory. In taking this new stock is that it will be on the same fooling as the original stock, and share in its profits. Every original stockholder should take some of this new stock as it is an excellent investment. It will be payable $5 per month on each share; to run twenty months. No back installments to pay.

Said Mr. Adair: A gentleman of wealth and prominence told me a few days since. "The charter of your bank is the best one I ever saw, and I want some of that new stock in addition to the large block of the original stock I already have, because I consider it a good dividend paying investment."

This is another step forward for Atlanta. We need good, safe banks, and Atlanta is fast becoming the financial center of the south. The bank is managed by men well known in our midst and of high business qualifications. Mr. A. D. Mr. Currier made the showing that he meant no harm by simply speaking to the woman, and that she first accosted him as he was on his way home.

she first accosted him as he was on his way home. He did not even know that there was anything against the woman's character, and the faultiness of the ordinance making it a criminal offeise to speak to such women was shown in his statement before Judge Anderson.

The patrolman who arrested him did so in accordance with the provisions of the city laws, but the recorder decided that some discretion ought to be observed in such cases. Mr. Currier is an honest, hard working mechanic, well known for years in the city.

OW they did go. Suit after suit was purchased by gratified callers. The Sale will be continued today. We told you that the goods were fine and cheap. Some hundreds of fathers and mothers in and about Atlanta are saying the same thing today. They've bought Bring on your boys and let them be fitted while this cost sale is in full blast:

FETZER & PHARR.

That our "December Special Sale" is meeting with much success does not surprise us. We knew it would. The very fact of our offering some of the choicest suits in our stock at prices that you ordinarily pay for far inferior clothing, assured the best results from the start. We have added several very excellent styles in both suits and overcoats to our "Special," and they are equally as interesting as the first lots.

NEW YORK STOCKS

tocks as Reported at the New York Stock Exchange.

New York, December 13.—The stock market has pontinued to show a steadily decreasing volume of business and today's record, especially for stocks of the regular list, was smaller than anything seen in months. The unlisted department was more active in the aggregate, but the increase was all sugar rafiners, which, was more heavily traded in than refiners which was more heavily traded in than any day this week with the exception of Tuesday. The stock seemed to touch bottom today at 55½, when large buying orders came in and a substan-tial rally of over four per cent was made though all of the improvement was not retained at the close. Buying seemed for the most part to be covering, but there were heavy orders executed for Boston account and large blocks of borrowed stock were account and large blocks of borrowed stock were returned today, indicating that the covering yesterday was material. Outside buying stimulated investment by room traders on the long side and the reaction was due, more to realizing sales by this element than to anything else. Chicago gas was depressed at first on unfavorable reports, but rallied completely. The publication, claimed to be official, that Missouri Pacoffe had failed to earn even fixed observes for Pacific had failed to earn even fixed charges for the year ending June 30, the last, by something less than $100,000, had some small influence on that stock, and it closed % cent lower than last evening. Lackawanna was again strong today. The report that the deal in Tennessee coal was over for the present resulted in some sell-ing of that stock and it yielded 2 per cent but recovered 1. The most important movements, how-ever, were in Memphis and Charleston, which spurted up 5 per cent, on the decision of the su-preme court of Alabama, prohibiting the East Tennessee from voting a majority of the Memphi and Charleston stock which it holds and thus throwing the control of the company to the min-ority stockholders. The general list was quiet, too; dull throughout, and the market closed dull and steady at close to the opening figures. Sales of stock aggregated 121,000 shares. Exchange quiet and steady at 451@435%. Money

NEW YORK, December 13.—[Special.]—The cotton market for the past week has been dull and uninteresting with transactions light. On Monday fluctuations were confined to 1 point. On Tuesday the commissioner of agriculture of Tennessee issued a report making the condition in that state very bad, and on this information in the market worked up and on the commissioner of agriculture of Tennessee issued a report making the condition in that state very bad, and on this information in the market worked up a few points, some shorts being frightened into covering, but the trade as a rule placed little credence in the report, and when the agricultural bureau's report of Wednesday was published the improvement melted away. NEW YORK, December 13.—The following are the stal net receipts of cotton at all United States ports ince September 1, 1889:

usual preceding the holidays. The free export demand continues, and now amounts to 2, 184,175 bales since the 1st of September, against 1,000,438 bales same time last year. The receipts at the various port since the 1st of September reach 3,541,892 bales, against 3,631,271 bales last year. The interfor movement is somewhat in excess of last week, and is estimated at 115,000 to 116,000 bales. The Bombay movement is quite large. Receipts for the week were 40,000 bales, against 27,600 bales for the corresponding week last year. The Liverpool, market were 40,000 bales, against 27,600 bales for the corresponding week last year. The Liverpool market has been devoid of interest, and has shown few new features since our last review. Spot cotton is in light demand, and the receipts have been large. The stocks there show a material increase, with quotations unchanged. The weather south has been most favorable, and our telegrams indicate a desire on the part of conservative buyers to soil the actual cotton at present prices, and are offering the staple for shipment in the next 60 days, delivered at Fall River, on a basis of 10% of for middling.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, December 18—Wheat—Good trading characterized the speculative market on the whole, though at times a quiet feeling prevailed. The market opened at about yesterday's closing figures, held barely steady for awhile and then under large eclined 1@1%c for May and 1%o for De cember, closing %60%c lower than yesterday.

Corn was exceedingly duil. The feeling was steady, and values showed little change compared with yesterday, the final quotations being about the Oats were weaker and a shade lower. May was the principal future traded in, but fluctuations were only ½c.

Pork—Trading was only moderate, and the feeling was steadier. Prices were advanced 5@7½c, but with moderately free offerings a reduction of 2½@5c was submitted to, and the market closed quiet.

Lard—Prices were advanced about 2½c early in the day, but settled back again and closed steady.

Short rib sides—There was a fair trade, and the feeling was firmer. Prices were advanced 2½c early, and the feeling was firmer.

Interesting Thought!

200,000 Organs 200,000 Estey Organs.

200,000 Estey Organs have been manufactured. Think of it. Try and realize what it means. It sone organ finished every week since Noah built the ark.

Do you suppose it would be possible, with a sufficient number of men, to build a fine Reed Organ all compite in seven hours? No doubt it would, but it would certainly require a large force of skilled men to do it. Now, if the Estey Organ company had taken so long a time as seven hours they would have had to begun before Columbus discovered America in order to complete 200,000 organs in 1888. They have actually been building their famous Reed Organs forty years, averaging about one organ in thirty-five minutes. And not building them only. They have sold them.

No other organ can show such sales. What does it prove? Simply that the ESTEY Organ is the fa-vorite, that it is the best value for the money invested, that it has been the choice with the majority of persons who have purchased organs. You can't make any mistake up choosing an ES

TEY, for the great majority is with you. Go to the ESTEY Organ Co.'s ware-rooms, corner Marietta and Broad streets, Atlanta, Ga., and you can be suited in price and terms.

HE RODE THROUGH TOWN AND THOUGHT HE WOULD ESCAPE ARREST.

He Had Traded a Stolen Mule for the Horse He Rode, and He Wasn't as Safe as He Thought

A horse thief was caught in Atlanta yester-

Just after noon a six foot mulatto rode down Pryor street on a pacing bay horse. Patrol-man Holt saw him, and following him to the corner of Pryor and Hunter, arrested him. The negro was indignant over his arrest, and persisted in saying that he was guilty of

At the stationhouse he was identified as the man who stole Mr. John Stevens's mule from Pease's old wagon yard Tuesday. He gave his name as Henry Smith, alias Henry Fleming, alias Henry Fannigin, alias Gus An-He was locked up, and in a few minutes Mr. Rube Bridwell, of Decatur, arrived and identified the horse as one which he had swapped to the negro for a dark bay mule Tuesday. He gave the negro twenty dollars and his saddle as boot in the exchange, and after giving a receipt he took the horse home with him.

The theft was a bold one. The negro took the harness from the mule, mounted him and rode away. So soon as the mule was missed, the police department was notified, and Detective Joe Green went to work to catch the thing.

Authorities in Decatur were notified by tel ephone, just a few minutes after the negro had swapped his mule for the borse; and several parties went in pursuit of the thief. He rode back to Atlanta, eluded the vigilance of his pursuers, and yesterday, at high noon, appeared on the streets again, riding the horse that he had swapped the stolen mule for in Decatur.

The negro professes to have come from Chattanooga a week ago, and says that he bought the mule from a negro.

MERRY CHRISTMAS.

The Home of the Woman's Christian Asso ciation Will Make the Inmates Happy.

The many friends of the little ones in this ome need not be reminded that many little hearts are beating, and many bright eyes are animated at the thought of the near approach of Santa the thought of the near approach of Santa Claus's visit.

The ladies in charge propose to have a tree laden with good things, and in many ways to gladden the hearts of these little unfortunates, and of the old grandmothers in the home who are now in their second childhood. Any gifts will be thankfully received.

ceived.

Although it is not the policy of the management to admit grown inmates into the home, an employment and intelligence office is kept in the home through which those desiring help and those in want of situations can obtain the same by simply registering their applications. Several have been accommodated during the past month. The home is nicely kept, and a nappler or better regulated family cannot be found.

CAPITOL NOTES.

Governor Gordon issued an order yesterday calling the attention of the insurance companies doing business in Georgia to the law which requires that each company shall make through its chief officer or agent, a semi-annal statement to the gov-ernor. The failure to comply with the executive order entails the recall and cancellation of licenses by the insurance commissioner,

Governor Gordon yesterday designated Pro-fessor fl. C. White of the State university at Athens, to be his own successor as one of the directors of the new experiment station. The law make the virtue of his office and requires the appointment of another member of the board from the faculty each School Commissioner Hook received an invitation yesterday from the library board of Minneapoils, Minn., to be present on December 16th at the opening of the new and magnificent public library building. Judge Hook said he would have gladly accepted the invitation but his business did not allow him at present to journey so far from home.

Ladies' Week of Prayer.

The Baptist ladies of Georgia will observe next week, beginning Monday, as a week of next week, beginning Monday, as a week of self denial and prayer in the interest of missions. The ladies of this city will hold the meetings at Second Paptist church, each afternoon, from three to four c'clock, and cordfally invite all ladies to join them in this service. It is hoped that Mrs. W. S. Walker, a returned missionary from China, and now a state missionary, will be with them in their meetings.

TALKING OF TRADE,

The Weekly Review of Dun & Co. - The Hollday Ensiness.

New York. December 13.—R. G. Dun & Co,'s weekly review of trade says.

But for one thing, the business reports received this week would be exceptionally satisfactory. Among all the reports received there is not one that does not mention the mild, open and unseasonable weather as accounting for some depression in one or more branches of business. The effect is especially marked in the clothing trade, which has not wholly recovered from the unfavorable results of cially marked in the clothing trace, which has not wholly recovered from the unfavorable results of last open winter, and at Philadelphia it begins to be feared that some misfor unes will occur, unless good winter weather comes soon. The trade in woolen goods and in heavy boots and shoes is also retarded, and the anthracite coal trade even more seriously, though the suppression of detailed weekly reports leaves much to imagination. On the other hand there is some compensation in the fact that the open weather has enabled building operations to be carried on longer than usual, and activity in that large department is almost nucleaded at many points, notably at Philadelphia, where real estate is also active, and at Lynn, cause especial demands for material.

at Lybu, causes especial deminds for material.

THE HOLIDAY TRADE

has also commenced early and is of a unusual magnitude thus far, indicating that millions have had a prosperous year, and are inclined to spend freely. Strong evidence that the situation is healthy appears in the returns of iron furnacers for December first, which shows a weekly output of 169,151 tons against 163,225 November first, and 148,913 a year ago. With an output at the rate of 8,750,000 tons per annum, from does not yield in price, though it is admitted that heavy sales have been made at flures below Philadelphia quotations and in many instances probably at $19 with a guarantee against loss, if prices fall. It is hoped that $20 may be established for the coming year, but there is some evidence of uncertainty it also market for bar from and other flushed products, though steel rails are firm at $33. Advancing prices are noted at Pittsburg, and great activity in ore at Geveland, where it is stated the entire Lake, Superior product for the next year has been already sold—Bessemer at $60 per ton.

continues undisturbed and though receipts and exports of raw cotton both fell below last year for this week the price is unchanged. In spile of the effect of the unseasonable weather on woosen manufacture, sales of wool at Boston were exceptionally large, 4(44,200 pounds at firm prices, with signs of improvement in delainos, Ohio and Michigan.

SPECULATIVE MARKETS

have been stronger, but show no unwholesome activity. Coffee has risen 950 with sales of 316,000 bags and enormous exports of cotton thus far in November$47,555,038 in value against $28,929,310 last year, hold price unchanged. The general lovel of prices has slightly declined for the week, but is about a fifth of one per cent above that of December 1st. Fears of monetary difficulty have finded away, but the market has not grown easy as yet, nor have reinforcements come from any quarter. The east is in want of funds; the west finds in the phenomenal business activity employment for the large amounts sent thither and anticipated imports of gold from Europe do not yet arrive. Foreign exchange, indeed, is a shade stronger than a week $60.

ABOUT THE A. AND F.

THE COMPTROLLER GENERAL HAS SOMETHING TO SAY.

The Atlanta and West Point File a Sworn Statemest and Bring Up a Legal Question About the Sleeping Car Taxes.

About the Sleeping Car Taxes.

Comptroller General Wright will today turn his attention to the Atlanta and Florida railroad.

Owing to business which had accumulated during his absence in New Orleans he was unable to do so yesterday. His intention is, however, to ascertain why no levy has been made on the property of the company in compliance with the order he issued last Tuesday.

He said yesterday that it was not a matter in which the law gave him the alightest power to hold the order back, and after its being issued there was no law permitting the sheriff to delay the levy one hour after receiving his instructions. That the road would refuse to pay the taxes in order to make a test case, Comptroller Wrightsaid he could hardly believe, as an exactly similar case had been decided by the supreme court of the United States within the past few years, and the road would have no possible chance of winning the cause.

Orders were given to the sheriff to include the Atlanta and Florida road in his advertisements for the December sale. Through some oversight the advertisement was omitted and therefore no sale

Auanta and Florida road in his advertisements for the December sale. Through some oversight the advertisement was omitted and therefore no sale could take place until the first Tuesday in January. It is expected, however, that before that time the taxes will be paid. If the matter is taken to the courts it would make no difference to the road as the law states that before suit can be entered the full amount of the taxes must be paid into the treasury under protest. The taxes must also be paid regularly until the case is finally settled.

THE WEST POINT SERVES NOTICE.

THE WEST POINT SERVES NOTICE. THE WEST POINT SERVES NOTICE.

The Atlanta and West Point railroad notified Comptroller-General Wright yesterday that they were exempt, and would not pay the tax on steeping cars which was imposed on all roads by the last legislature.

ast legislature.

Some days ago Comptroller Wright sent a copy of the bill to every railroad in Georgia. It stated that nobedience to the law all roads would be taxed a retain sum for every mile over which they dragged sleeping cars other than the ones owned by the nome corporation.

stepping cars other than the ones owned by the home corporation.

In reply the Atlanta and West Point road submits a sworn statement which sets forth that they run a large number of Pullman sleeping cars over ninety-seven miles of track. They, however, refuse to pay taxes on the ground that every car is employed in interstate commerce and consequently exempt.

Compiroller Wright said, after reading the law carefully, that nothing was said about exemption on account of interstate commerce, and he would be obliged to enforce the payment of the tax. A rofusal to pay will necessitate a law case. The comptroller will notify the attorney general, and it will be left to the courts to deede if the legislature ried to tax the Pullman Car company, and finding that cause unconstitutional they have imposed this tax in order to reach the Pullman company through the Georgia railroads. They further claim that the law can not stand, as it is manifestly unconstitutional.

The Central and the East Tennessee have been notified to provide sidewalks where West Fair street crosses the two roads.

One of the most interesting railroad cases in court now hinges on the decision of Judge J. M. Smith in the injunction case against the Savanniah, Americus and Montgomery. A number of citizens in Americus tried to restrain the management of the road from laying additional sidetracks across a street in that city. Judge Smith took what might be termed a very advanced position in the matter, and if his position is sustained the railroads haven't as broad rights as they are commonly supposed to have.

"A road," said he, "has not even the right to change the road from a marrow to a broad gauge without first consulting the complainants and arranging such damages as might result from the change of gauge and consequent increase of business over the road."

The "increase of business" consideration is a sweeping one.

The "change of gauge" consideration is scarcely less sweeping.

The judge gives sound legal reason for his decision, but-it's something new in practice if not in principle.

The case goes to the supreme court.

The case goes to the supreme court.

Thirty-five carloads of oranges passed through Atlanta yesterday for western points. The orange shipments this year are remarkably large.

One single shipment of furniture-nineteer carloads, making a special car—passed through At-lanta a day or two ago for Savannah. It is to be used in the furnishing of the DeSoto hotel in that used in the furnishing of the Desoio note: in that city. It is probably the largest solid shipment of furniture ever made in the south. The Queen and Crescent, the Western and Atlantic, and the Central supplied a special engine each, and the train made the fastest freight run on record between its starting point and destination.

It was stated yesterday, by an officer of the Marietta and North Georgia, that a daily schedule—passenger and freight—would be in operation between Knoxville and Marietta within four months. The connection over the Knoxville Southern, he admitted, was about as outlined in the Constitution several days ago.

The rate committee of the Southern Railway and Steamship association met Wednesday in New York and was still in session yesterday.

Mr. W. J. Craig has been appointed general freight and passenger agent of the Port Royal and Augusta and of the Port Royal and Western of North Carolina, with headquarters at Augusta.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY

THE AVERAGE man's constant aim an study is to make his income meet th demands of his family's wants. If he's a sensible man he well knows that he can't get "something for nothing." Whenever he reads of a scheme whereby the advertiser proposes to give him "some-thing for nothing" he drops it like a hot potato.

He well knows that there are reliabland sham houses. If he is a man of judg ment he has come to the conclusion that the manufacturer of an article has the advantage of the middleman or agent. Not only has the advantage in price, but coming daily in contact with the con-sumers of his wares he learns their wants and makes his goods accordingly.

This is what we wish to impress on your minds, to wit: We are MANUFAC-TURERS OF GOOD CLOTHING ONLY We supply the consumers of clothing out of first hands. We aim to make only clothing that we can say: this is OUR clothing. Perfection is our standard; enonomy our watchword.
